

PERSONAL VISION STATEMENT WORKSHEET

Like a destination on a road trip, the personal vision statement give us a direction towards which to travel. It provides us insight into who we are and what is important to us. It centers us. It gives us glimpses of our future better self.

Below is a list of questions to help you form your personal vision. Creating a personal vision statement is a process on introspection and creativity. As you answer the questions below, you will notice themes of things that are important to you.

Questions:

- A. At your retirement party, what are the six words you want people to use to describe you?
- 1.
 - 2.
 - 3.
 - 4.
 - 5.
 - 6.
- B. In the last thirty days, what days have been the most satisfying and why?

C. Of your many strengths which one(s) do you enjoy using the most? How have you used them in the last thirty days?

D. Describe how you felt on the day of your greatest achievement?

E. Place your five most fundamental values in order of importance?

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.
- 4.
- 5.

F. Describe the ideal day?

G. Create a list of activities (5 to 10) that are essential to who you are?

H. Name three things that if you could stop doing, you would?

I. What is the basis of your most important relationships?

J. What achievement is next on your list and why?

What trends did you notice?

What words/phrases reoccurred?

What are the important themes of your life?

After you have answered all the questions, create two to three sentences that create a vision of your better future self. It should be inspiring. It should be definite. It should be attainable. It should be the truth. It should be you.

Personal Leadership Vision Statement:

I will

Signature & Date

Live Your Vision